Marie reported Mayo has some new providers, including Jean Hamlin who will be at the Milo Family Practice. She went on to describe many of the changes happening at Mayo. Marie said she inherited a full-time cardiologist, so she attempted to create a Cardiology Department, but it wasn't feasible at a small hospital because the program requires a large support system that was just not available at Mayo. There will be, however, a weekly clinic, and the cardiac rehabilitation program Heartwise is not closing, but will have fewer hours. Mayo has received a $250,000 donation, so they are working with an architect to create an oncology unit. "All Mayo facilities use patientcentered practices, including condition of the hospital to help nurse navigators, annual wellness visits, and all our primary care physician positions filled,' she told us. "The financial challenges for Mayo are due to things out of our control, such as reimbursement rates reduced 2 percent, a loss of market share, and Medicare managed care affecting reimbursement rates in a nega-tive way." The Affordable Care Act has cut reimbursement rates, but were supposed to be made up through increases in MaineCare reimbursements, but that did not happen.

There has been a volume decline in patient care. So, on paper, the hospital has not made any money since 2011, and beginning this fiscal year it's looking dire (down $4M), so the hospital is taking action to work on a lack of Continued on Page 3

WOLVES IN MAINE: PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE - Meredith Josselyn will present "Wolz, at 6 past, Present and Future" on Wednesday, April 22, at 6 p.m. The program will be held at the Abbott Memorial Library in Dexter. Meredith Josselyn, is the Education & Outreach Coordinator for the Maine Wolf Coalition. Meredith has been a wolf advocate since the age of nine. She is a graduate of Unity College and is currently a graduate student at the University of Southern Maine/ In recent years a number of sightings of wolves in Maine have been reported, but its difficult to confirm the sighted animals as wolves.

Second Season of Gardeners' Roundtable planned in Hartland

HARTLAND - Anyone who is gardener or a wannabe gardener in Sebasticook Valley or particularly in the greater-Hartland area is invited to participate in a "Gardeners" Roundtable" at 7 p.m., Wednesday, April 22 at the Hartland Public Library.

The intent of the program is to share gardening experience, both successes and failures, or simply inexperience, with a common goal: to come away as better gardeners working towards a successful season. The special focus of this first session of the season will be planning and planting, when to plan and plant, what to plan and plant, and especially how everyone may do it differently.

Regardless of how much or how little you may garden, you have experience to share or questions to pose. Bring your knowledge and come share with gardeners from the region.

For questions or to let them know you will be coming call Brenda Seekins @ 938-4248 or Barbara Day @ 938-3565, or by email brendaseekins@gmail.com

CTE STUDENT OF THE YEAR - Nick Woodward (on right) has been selected as the Career and Technical Education (CTE) Student of the Year at Tri-County Technical Center. He is a senior who is home-schooled and is completing his second year of training in the Metals Manufacturing Program and his first year in the Commercial Truck Driving Program at TCTC. His hometown is Dexter. Nick will be one of 27 CTE students honored at a dinner and ceremony at the Lewiston Culinary Arts Center on May 2, 2015. This statewide recognition is sponsored by the Maine Administrators of Career and Technical Education (MACTE). Other CTE students and their families from schools across Maine join him at the event. Nick plans to drive a tractor trailer overland after graduation and save money to go to college as a diesel mechanic specializing in heavy equipment. Upon graduating from college, Nick would like to open his own business in Heavy Equipment repair and machining located somewhere in Maine. While at TCTC, Nick has had perfect attendance for the past two years. He is a quiet young man who definitely has solid plans for his immediate future. He has the work ethic, dedication, and commitment to the skill sets he has earned and has demonstrated excellent work while attending the Center. Nick has earned the following certification at TCTC: NOCTI Certificate and college credit, Class B Driver's License, Class A Permit, and his Oxygen and Acetylene Safety Certificate. In the above photo with Nick is Robert Mosca (left), Metals Manufacturing Instructor at TCTC.

Webber ACE Hardware of Dover-Foxcroft recognized from ACE hardware corporation

DOVER-FOXCROFT - Ace Hardware Corporation has announced that Webber Ace Hardware of Dover-Foxcroft achieved designation as a "Platinum Performance Retailing" store for its outstanding performance in 2014. Developed as part of Ace's long-term retail growth strategy, 20/20 Vision, Platinum Performance Retailing is laser-focused on Ace's customers, helping to ensure that Ace stores deliver on its brand promise day in and day out.

For more than 90 years, Ace Hardware has been serving its neighbors with helpful service and quality products. With more than 4,800 stores in more than 60 countries, the team at Webber ACE Hardware is one of 723 Ace retailers to achieve this prestigious Platinum status in 2014. To achieve Platinum Performance Retailing, the team at Webber ACE Hardware successfully completed seven performance drivers that will help them provide a better overall shopping experience in their local community. One example of a proven performance driver is "Helpful Certification," the foundational element of Ace's "Certified Ace Helpful" retail training curriculum. To become certified, Ace Hardware associates complete courses such as Helpful 101 and 201 and the store conducts a week-long team-based certification event.

"It is a truly commendable accomplishment for an Ace store to achieve Platinum Performance Retailing status," said Dan Miller, Vice President, Retail Operations and New Business, Ace Hardware Corporation. "We're pleased to recognize Webber ACE Hardware and its associates for their outstanding achievements, and proud to say they're a part of the Ace family.'

"The team at Webber ACE Hardware is incredibly pleased to have earned the status as a Platinum Per-formance Retailing store," said at Mark W Robinson, owner. "What this means for our customers is that we are more committed than ever to providing our loyal shoppers with the best possible retail experience; from customer service to product offerings and more, we're taking 'Ace helpful' to a new level.'

Crime victims' rights celebration

MAINE - The Maine Chapter of Parents of Murdered Children will be hosting its 11th Annual National Crime Victims' Rights Week celebration on Sunday, April 19 at the Calumet Club, 334 W. River Road, (Rte.104) in Augusta. They will begin with a luncheon from noon - 1 p.m. There is no cost to attend and all are welcome.

Following the luncheon, a program of guest speakers including Maine Deputy Attorney General Lisa Marchese, chair of the Maine DV Homicide Review Panel; Carey Nason from Hope Rising, a human trafficking program of St. Andre's; Meg Hatch, from the Maine Network of Children's Advocacy Centers; Somerset County Sheriff Dale Lancaster, and Arthur Jette from the Maine Chapter, Parents of Murdered Children will provide information to attendees on prevention of violent crimes and community responses available to victims of crime.

Survivors of homicide victims are encouraged to bring framed photos of their loved ones, as well as a small personal item to display on a memorial table.

This year, National Crime Victims' Rights Week (NCVRW) is April 19-25 and the theme "Engaging Communities. Empowering Victims." presents the opportunity to highlight the diversity of our communities, expand partnerships to serve victims of crime, enhance efforts to meet victims where they are, and empower crime victims as they pursue justice and recovery According to Arthur Jette, "While our nation has a long history of criminal justice, there needs to be more focus on victim justice No one should suffer a loss by crime, without restitution."

Beginning with its inception in 1981, by President Ronald Reagan, National Crime Victims' Rights Week has challenged the nation to reshape the future of crime victims by seeking rights, ed to rebuild their lives. Since 1984 the Victims of Crime Act (VOCA), using only funds from fines and surcharges from criminals, has responded to the immediate needs of crime victims. assisting and encouraging them to participate in the criminal justice system. VOCA helps Maine's Victims' Compensation Program pay victims' out-of-pocket expenses such as counseling, medical and funeral expenses, and lost wages, due to crime.

Elk Lodge officer elections announced

PITTSFIELD - The annual installation of officers and awards ceremony of the Sebasticook Valley Elks Lodge in Pittsfield was held on Saturday, April 11.

Michael Lange of St. Albans was installed as Exalted Ruler or lodge president, succeeding Dennis Bragg of Detroit. The ceremony was conducted by members of the Bangor Elks Lodge led by Past Exalted Ruler Bob Modery.

Lange, a semi-retired journalist, also served as Exalted Ruler of the Skowhegan-Madison Lodge in 2011

The other lodge officers installed were Sarah DeLong, Leading Knight (1st vice president); Joan Bowley, Loyal Knight (2nd vice president); Janelle Berard, Lecturing Knight (3rd vice president); Terry White, Secretary; Bonny Maloon, Treasurer; Royal Thornton, Trustee; Michael Havey, Esquire; Rita Farrington, Chaplain; David Brown, Inner Guard; and Jasper Farrington, Tiler.

Bragg presented the Elk of the Year award to Bonny Maloon in recognition of her many hours of volunteer work for the organization. In addition to chairing the highly-successful Super Supper in October 2014, she also provided valuable assistance to the Board of Directors during the budget process and also served as a volunteer bartender.

Lucas DeLong, chairman of the Board of Trustees, was selected as Officer of the Year. Bragg praised DeLong for his dedication to the lodge, including serving as House Committee chair and as a member of the Investigation Committee.

Lange and White were presented with Grand Lodge Outstanding Service Commendations by the outgoing Exalted Buler

The Sebasticook Valley Lodge is one of 22 Elks Lodges in Maine and one of the largest fraternal organizations in the region with 274 members.

Zepeda participates in Alternative Spring Break

DOVER-FOXCROFT - Lydia Zepeda of Dover-Foxcroft and a group of fellow Emmanuel College students participated in the College's recent Alternative Spring Break (ASB) in Boston, Massachusetts, learning about, connecting with and taking positive action in the community in which they live and learn. ASB a weeklong, faith-based service trip held during the College's traditional spring break that pridges volunteer work with education and reflection on larger social issues.

For the second year, the Boston group stayed at the College's new Notre Dame Campus in Roxbury and focused on food justice and access, which seeks to ensure that the benefits and risks of where, what and how food is grown, produced, transported, distributed, accessed and eaten are shared fairly. Students also learned about the history and demographics of Boston and how to work with the community to move forward.

The group completed service projects at Pine Street Inn, Community Servings, the Greater Boston Food Bank, Rosie's Place, The Food Project, the Franciscan Food Center at St. Anthony Shrine and ReVision Urban Farm. As part of the Notro Dame Campus's new Urban Food Project, the group, working with Roxbury resident and urban-gardening expert Patti Moreno (Patti the Garden Girl), began herb, vegetable and floral seedlings for the campus's forthcoming urban garden, which will be planted later this spring. As the Urban Food Project also focuses on education, the group conducted educational workshops on healthy eating, shopping on a budget and urban gardening at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mission Grammar School and Nazareth Residence for Mothers.

The PCSWCD awarded Project Canopy Grant to enhance community forest

PISCATAQUIS - Piscataquis County is known for its crystalclear lakes, mountain vistas and endless, productive forests. Here, our natural resources are our livelihoods and add to the diverse beauty that surrounds us. Despite our central location amongst all this "great outdoors", there is still much to learn about the natural resources in our county. That's where the Piscataquis County Soil and Water Conservation District (PCSWCD) comes in.

A major goal of the PCSWCD is to promote and conserve our natural resources through educational efforts Two of the most valuable teaching tools the PCSWCD has are two parcels of public land - one of which is the Law Farm property in Dover-Foxcroft. For the past few years, the PCSWCD has worked to develop the Law Farm into an interactive, outdoor learning space, where residents and visitors to Piscataquis County can go to learn about and enjoy our natural resources. The PCSWCD announced that they have been awarded a 2015 Project Canopy Grant to help further develop the Community Forest at our Law Farm public land.

Project Canopy is a cooperative partnership between the USDA Forest Service Community Forestry Assistance Program, the Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry's Maine Forest Service and GrowSmart Maine. The Project Canopy grant the PCSWCD has received will fund the purchase of trees and interpretive signs - all of which will enhance the public areas at the Law Farm The trees will not only add beauty, but also provide ecological diversity, attracting area birds and wildlife. The tree species selected to be planted are all native and hardy enough to withstand the climate here in Piscataquis County.

The PCSWCD staff plans to work with several classes from Foxcroft Academy, including their greenhouse and several science classes, to plant the community forest. The PCSWCD is excited to have the opportunity to bridge teaching opportunities at the Law Farm with learning happening in our local schools. Foxcroft Academy teacher Julie Willcott noted that "the Project Canopy Grant provides an outstanding opportunity for students to work in the community. Students will be able to serve the community by planting trees. At the same time, they will have the opportunity to learn more about this valuable local natural resource.

Kacey Weber, PCSWCD's Educational Coordinator, said that 'this is what the District is all about - engaging our residents in learning opportunities in our community that provide a connection to and understanding of our natural resources. This Project Canopy grant will provide that opportunity in several ways - first through the tree plantings with the FA students and for years to come as folks enjoy the community forest at the Law Farm.'

For more information about the Piscataquis County Soil and Water Conservation District, the Law Farm or this Project Canopy Grant, please contact the staff at the District at (207) 564-2321 ext. 3 or by emailing info@piscataquisswed.org.

Time to stock your pond with trout MAINE - Ponds that are stocked with trout provide multiple benefits for landowners and their families, and this is the time of year to order your brook and rainbow trout to stock your pond. The Piscataquis County Soil and Water Conservation District's Annual Trout Sale will be held on Saturday, May 9 from 11 a.m. to Noontime. Customers must pre-order all brook and rainbow trout by Thursday, May 7 in order to receive them on May 9.

If you are a returning customer, or stocking your pond for the first time, there are some requirements that you should be aware of. A current permit is required by the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Department for the species most appropriate for your pond. A copy of this will need to be submitted with your preorder. You will also need to bring your original permit to the sale in order to receive your trout.

If you do not have a permit you may pick up an application from the PCSWCD office, request one by email from us or download the application from the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife website at www.maine.gov/ifw/licenses_permits/forms_applications. htm

Ponds that are stocked with trout also can provide families with a low-fat, low cholesterol, high protein, heart-healthy fish. By stocking 6"-8" or larger trout in early spring and feeding them throughout the growing season, many nutritious meals may be enjoyed before the ice cover in winter. Trout also provide food for wildlife and migratory hirds

Contact the PCSWCD at 564 - 2321, Extension 3, by email at info@ piscataquisswcd.org, or stop in at the USDA Service Center at 42 Engdahl Drive in Dover - Foxcroft for more information on this sale that supports our education programs and also enhances your natural landscape.

DOVER-FOXCROFT - When the power blinked off in Dover-Foxcroft on Sunday afternoon most people didn't think about it too much. This was not the case for the cast and crew at the Center Theatre performing The Jungle Book for a matinee audience. While the power was off for just a moment or two, it was long enough to shut down all the stage lights leaving the cast in the dark. "It can be very disorienting to be on stage when the power goes out," said Patrick Myers with the Center Theatre, "but the kids didn't panic or break character." The cast stayed Bergeron, a student a PCHS and the show's lighting designer, brought the lights back up. "Once the lights came back on, the kids picked up right where they had left off and continued the play." Myers said. "They conducted themselves very professionally. Everyone was proud of how well they did. . . and very happy that the power came back on."

While the power outage was certainly unexpected, what wasn't surprising was how much people enjoyed the performance. "This was our third show." said Director Bobby Keniston. "and the audiences have loved each one. These kids have worked hard and it shows." The kid's performances are complimented by an evocative set. Keniston reports that they designed a minimal set and scenery so that the audience's imagination would fill in the gaps.

The play follows the Rudyard Kipling story of Mowgli the 'man-cub' who is raised Center Theatre in the jungle by several colorful animal-characters and who eventually has to confront Shere Kahn the tiger. The animals are brought to life by the kid's acting as well as imaginative and enjoyable costumes and makeup. "The animals each have their own 'look'" said Wendy Voter, the stage manager for the production "We worked hard to make sure each child was an individual with makeup that helped them express their character. We also had lots of help with the costumes from Belinda Hobbs a professional costumer designer. dedicated parents, and volun-teers. The result is a wonderful collection of characters that both children and adults can enjoy." The last chances for the public to see The Jungle Book will be Friday the 17 at 7 p.m. and Saturday the 18 and 2 p.m. and 7 n.m. Tickets are $5 for kids 12 and under, $10 in advance and for students, seniors and Theatre members, and $12 at the door. For tickets and more information call the Theatre Box Office at 564-8943 or stop in between 10am and 3pm Monday through Friday. The Center Theatre is a non-profit performing arts center dedicated to making the arts a part of life in the Maine Highlands
